

Each data point is represented as a set of features or attributes.